

Read, Watch and Get Involved

Consider organizing a reading session featuring works by Indigenous authors or books about Indigenous histories and fights. Alternatively, you could host a movie night with friends and family in the comfort of your home. Films are a compelling way to raise awareness and educate others about Indigenous peoples' rights and life circumstances.

During your event, take the opportunity to spotlight a current campaign by Survival International. Encourage attendees to support the cause by signing a current email action, making a collective impact.

Time required: 2-3 hours

Location: At home, in a library, a local bookshop etc.

Materials needed: A suitable book or movie (suggestions provided below) and a sheet with a QR code linking to the email action. Write to info@survivalinternational.org and we will send you the PDF with the QR code.

© Katie Mähler/Survival International

Books

“The Falling Sky” by Davi Kopenawa Yanomami & Bruce Albert

“Decolonize Conservation: Global Voices for Indigenous Self-Determination, Land, and a World in Common” by Ashley Dawson, Fiore Longo & Survival International

“Braiding Sweetgrass: Indigenous Wisdom, Scientific Knowledge, and the Teachings of Plants” by Robin Wall Kimmerer

“House Made of Dawn” by N. Scott Momaday

“Nutshimit: In the Woods” by Melissa Mollen Dupuis and Elise Gravel (Children’s book)

“Origen” by Nat Cardozo (Children’s book)

Films

“Birdwatchers” by Marco Bechis (2008)

“Corumbiara: They Shoot Indians, Don’t They?” by Vincent Carelli (2009)

“Piripkura” by Renata Terra, Bruno Jorge & Mariana Oliva (2018)

“Cholitas” by Jaime Murciego & Pablo Iraburu (2019)

“Nothing But the Sun” by Arami Ullón (2020)

“The Last Forest” by Luiz Bolognesi & Davi Kopenawa Yanomami (2021)

“Nyama” by Asher Rosen & Ezra Mugisha (2021)

“The Invention of the Other” by Bruno Jorge (2022)

“We Are Guardians” by Chelsea Greene, Rob Grobman & Edivan Guajajara (2023)

“This is Our Everything” by Frederik Subei (2023)

“Holding up the Sky” by Pieter van Eecke (2023)